Henry Taub grew up in Paterson, New Jersey, where the local Y was the focal point of Jewish life. He and his family lived among hundreds of Holocaust survivors, and profoundly touched by the vulnerability of the Jewish community, Henry Taub became a lifetime supporter of institutions and causes that espouse Jewish values. The Kaplen JCC on the Palisades was one of them.

A Man of Vision

As anyone who has ever met him knows, Henry was a remarkable man. He was deeply devoted to Jewish life and Jewish community. With epic vision and intellect, Henry promoted Jewish scholarship and maintained a passionate belief that we should leave the world a better place than we found it. He dedicated his life to living up to this ideal. Henry will always be remembered for his kindness, compassion and his philanthropic commitment to making a difference.

“When I think about qualities that define a person like Henry, words like kind, generous, honorable and equitable all come to mind, but they do not begin to sum up the depth of who Henry really was,” says JCC Executive Director Avi A. Lewinson. “Henry was larger than life and possessed an unparalleled wisdom. He demonstrated a lifetime commitment to Israel, Jewish life and the betterment of humanity. He was a philanthropic humanitarian who will always be remembered as a man who wanted to make the world a better place…. anything he touched he made better. Henry was the embodiment of the highest form of leadership, someone who says little and does much. I will always remember him as both a great visionary and a humble, unassuming giant among men. Henry was in a class by himself, a rare person whom we are lucky to come across once or twice in a lifetime. It was my honor and privilege to know him.”

“Our Tradition and the JCC

When Henry and his wife Marilyn (known to all as Mickey) moved to Bergen County, Henry met with the JCC leadership. Sharing a common mission to create a thriving Jewish establishment that would unify and serve the needs of the local community, Henry became a founder of the JCC and later served as its first president in its Tenafly location (1980-1984).

During his presidency, Henry instituted our system of contributory memberships, which continue to support our Center to this day. He also established a comprehensive committee structure that brought hundreds of volunteers to our Center, many of whom became our future leaders. Our Judaic-Scholar-in-Residence program and numerous cultural and athletic programs were also established during his presidency, bringing an influx of new families to the JCC. Through his national and international involvement with numerous other Jewish organizations, Henry helped draw our JCC into the national limelight and solidified the JCC as a centerpiece in the Jewish community at large.

“In 1979, while JCC leadership was in the midst of a campaign to build its new agency in Tenafly, we were also seeking our next president,” says Sandra Gold, a JCC past president. “We wanted an individual who could mobilize support from every aspect of the Jewish Community, as well as command respect from the community at large. It was unanimous that Henry Taub was that perfect meld of credibility, experience and wisdom! Assembled for a Rubin family wedding in San Francisco, the JCC leadership present invited Henry and Mickey Taub to a gathering. We closed the door and after acknowledging the many responsibilities on his already full plate, we proceeded to pose the case for his nomination as the next JCC President. No doubt he...”

suspected that he couldn’t leave the room until he accepted our nomination, but we have been ever grateful that he agreed to our petition! His leadership helped enormously to ensure the success of the project and that it continued to the very last of his days on earth."

Henry’s vision for our Center went far beyond bricks and mortar. He frequently said that people were the central ingredient in community building and he backed his words with deeds, inspiring others to give by his generous example. Under his intelligent leadership, our Center became a true Center of Excellence, a gathering place for scholarship and culture and a home away from home for countless people looking to socialize and engage with others.

In their devotion to the arts and culture, Henry and Mickey dedicated the Taub Auditorium, which serves as a flourishing center for concerts, lectures and community celebrations. And when the JCC launched its Gift of Community Campaign, the Taubs were among the first to offer support by completely refurbishing the Taub Auditorium as a performance space to serve generations to come. In memory of Mickey’s parents, and in a heartfelt display of love for seniors and Yiddish music, the Taubs also created the Esther and Julius Adler Semi-Annual Yiddish Concert Series, which is enjoyed by more than 1,000 seniors each year.

A Pillar of the Community

In addition to his devotion to the JCC, Henry was a pillar of the entire community. As founder of Automatic Data Processing (ADP), the leading provider of business services in the U.S. Henry used his success to do for others. He supported UJA-Federation of Northern New Jersey (and its predecessors) for over 40 years. He created and funded the Synagogue Leadership Federation of Northern New Jersey (and its predecessors) for seniors each year. Henry Taub’s Legacy:

Henry possessed a rare gift of greatness and truly left the world a better place. Never forgetting his humble roots, Henry was soft-spoken and walked gently on the earth. But his intellectual fervor and his passion for family and Jewish continuity has left an indelible mark upon the world.

"Henry was a wise and compassionate leader," concludes Norman Seiden, JCC founding member, who currently serves on the Board of Trustees. "He taught us that providing for the future is a mission worth pursuing and he led by example. He truly was a mensch!"

We send our sincerest condolences to his family: Mickey, his wife of 53 years; their children Judy, Ron, Steven, Benay, Ira, Shelley; his brother Joe and wife Arlene, and 10 grandchildren: Samantha, Jessica, Evan, Matthew, Eliana, Joshua, Sarah, Sydney, Alex and Julia. He was deeply loved and will be sorely missed.

On behalf of our Boards of Directors and staff we wish you and your family a joyous Shavuot.

"I have always had great respect and admiration for Henry and his ability to get things done," says Charles Klatskin, a JCC founder and past president, who currently serves on the Board of Trustees. "He had a gentle manner, but he was highly motivated and set a high bar — a quiet man who carried a big stick."

Oscar Nominee Danny Aiello Discusses
The Making of The Shoemaker

By Susan Charlotte • Directed by Antony Marsellis

Thursday, May 5, 7:30 pm

Danny Aiello, Susan Charlotte and Antony Marseilis are coming to the JCC to celebrate the upcoming world premiere of The Shoemaker, a deeply compelling play and the film version called Something Like That, to be released this fall.

Our three guests will show clips from the film, share a behind-the-scenes look at the making of the play and movie, and hold a question and answer session with the audience.

The Shoemaker is about an Italian Jew haunted by his past – Fascist Italy in the late 1930’s. Sitting in his shop in New York’s Hall’s Kitchen on an eventful day in American history, the shoemaker loses the little bit of hope that he clings to, as he waits for a young woman to return for her shoes, a stranger who embodies the innocence that he wants to reclaim.

Advanced Sales: $15 JCC members, $20 general admission • $25 at the door
Optional dessert reception with artists following presentation $15

Two free tickets to the Off-Broadway show will be chosen from a drawing at the event and the audience can purchase discount tickets to select performances of the upcoming play. The show will run from July 14 to August 14 at the Acorn Theater on 42nd Street.

A post-screening discussion will be led by Professor Jonathan M. Golden of Drew University

This is the story of 6 girls and how the experience of knowing their “enemies” as human beings brushes up against the realities of their lives in the Middle East over the next 7 years. Some have lost friends and family members. All bear the psychological and emotional scars of living in a war zone. My So-Called Enemy shows the humanity and complexities of the Israeli/Palestinian conflict, and celebrates the important role of women in building peaceful communities. Directed by Emmy Award-winning filmmaker Lisa Gossels, it is also a coming of age story that speaks to the power of individual narratives to open hearts and minds and create space for dialogue.

There is no greater recipe for success than bringing people together for a culinary adventure in beautiful, private homes, while supporting vital services for seniors in our community at the same time.

This is exactly what we do on an annual basis, and this year, on March 3, the memorable dining experience, attended by hundreds, raised $45,000 to support vital services for senior adults in our community, including the JCC Senior Center Plus, a social "club" for active senior adults, the Kaplen Adult Reach Center (ARC) for the frail and those who suffer from Alzheimer’s disease and related forms of dementia, as well as a vast array of recreational, educational and social programs.

The adventure began at the home of Kim and Joe Spadaccini, who graciously opened a delectable cookbook, featuring special guest speaker, John DeLucie, Executive Chef and Proprietor of The Waverly Inn and Founding Chef & Partner of The Waverly Inn, both critically-acclaimed restaurants in Manhattan's West Village.

DeLucie shared his experience growing up in an Italian American family, where he was surrounded by great cooks and food, and the path that eventually led him to his calling as a chef.

The breakfast also featured Randy Breindel, who shared the story of her personal struggle with her father's dementia and how the ARC program at the JCC has provided her dad with companionship, dignity and joy. Participants then choose from a selection of lunches, served in neighboring homes, where hosts and hostesses provided a distinct and memorable dining experience.

For the first time, Jody Epstein and Iris Schwartz hosted a mitzva lunch at the JCC for 100 seniors who attend our Senior Center programs. This lunch was the perfect addition to the day.

Proceeds from this event will help enable many seniors in our community to participate in valuable programs and services that are vital to their well-being, such as door-to-door transportation in wheelchair accessible vehicles; hearty breakfasts and hot kosher lunches; programs for the arts; lectures & concerts; discussions on current affairs; gardening, music & exercise; sing-a-longs & dancing; birthday & holiday celebrations; intergenerational programs with nursery school children & more.

Suzy Aruz

Beginning at a very early 5:30 am on weekday mornings, members and staff are greeted by a very warm and welcoming smile. That smile belongs to Suzy Aruz, whose positive attitude and personality radiates all through the early morning until she finishes her shift. Her warmth is contagious, and especially in the early hours, she is sunshine to everyone she greets.

Suzy is an extremely hard worker, never complains and is willing to learn anything. A great and efficient organizer, Suzy manages all the locker assignments for the Seiden Wellness Center and makes sure that every member receives appropriate credits on their accounts. She recognizes our members and knows what credits they have off the top of her head and in many cases can even tell you their locker numbers. She is focused, eager to learn new things and enjoys her job. Suzy is respected and well-liked by everyone - staff, co-workers, supervisors and our members.

"Here is a story that really sums up Suzy," says Irene Laoudis, HRC Coordinator.

"We encourage all HRC staff to work out and high-energy Suzy is eager to work out as well. However, her workouts do not consist of squats and lunges. Suzy likes to spend her workouts dancing! How much more fun can cardio be? Having Suzy at the JCC is a blessing and we appreciate everything she does for the Center - especially when she smiles her million dollar smile!"

Maria Engel

Maria is the manager of the JCC Adult Day Program, where she works as a rehabilitation therapist, plans and oversees the daily activities and supervises both the participants and staff. The program serves young adults with a variety of special needs and Maria has infused the program with her magic touch. Always cheerful and friendly - and firm when she needs to be --- Maria has a real gift for keeping the participants happy and engaged.

"Maria really understands the participants in the program and helps them grow and gain confidence," says Shelley Levy, Special Services Director. "She has a special knack for drawing her participants out and she gets results that are truly extraordinary. She is a blessing to the department and is loved by the staff and participants."

Maria started at the JCC in the Sunday Funday group. But, when everyone discovered what a great cook she was, and how great she was with children, she was recruited to teach cooking classes. In addition to running the Adult Day Program, Maria is also head teacher for On Our Own and supervises the monthly dances.

"The dances are the icing on the cake," says Maria. "These young men and women work hard and struggle with things we take for granted. But when you see them dance and laugh and enjoy such simple pleasures, I just swell with pride and joy for them."
Gift of Music Raises $100,000 for Thurnauer School of Music

The JCC Thurnauer School of Music’s Gift of Music Gala Benefit Concert, held February 9 at the Bergen Performing Arts Center in Englewood, N.J., raised $100,000 toward high-quality, comprehensive music education at the school. The funds will be used to support the school’s many outstanding programs, which are open to everyone in the community, from infants to senior citizens. The benefit also supported the school’s unique Music Discovery Partnership, a collaboration with the Englewood public school district serving more than 200 children. Among the programs the money is used to enhance are the school’s orchestra, chamber music, jazz, and its large scholarship program. The amount is the highest raised by a single event in the JCC Thurnauer School of Music’s 27-year history.

The evening featured New York Philharmonic music director Alan Gilbert conducting the Thurnauer Symphony Orchestra (Lou Kosma, director) in Mozart’s Divertimento, K.137, in B-flat; and Copland’s “Simple Gifts” Divertimento, K.137, in B-flat; John Williams’ “Theme from Schindler’s List,” with Philharmonic concertmaster Glenn Dicterow as soloist; and Copland’s “Simple Gifts” from Appalachian Spring. Mr. Gilbert and all participating Philharmonic musicians donated their time and talent in support of greater access to music education.

The concert included chamber music of Beethoven, Andrés and Mendelssohn, performed by 10 musicians from the orchestra (joined by Mr. Gilbert for the Mendelssohn work), including Mr. Dicterow and music school parents Sheyl Staples (principal associate concertmaster); Judith LeClair (principal bassoon); and Jonathan Feldman (piano). The school’s violin groups (Carey White, director) and combined choirs (Emma Brondolo, director) opened the program. Musicians and vocalists included students in the Music Discovery Partnership. This award-winning after-school program is now in its 13th year, and many of its students’ families were in the concert audience.

New fundraising counsel, as well as the leadership of music school director (and founder) Dorothy Kaplan Roffman and associate director Michael Reingold, made the evening a huge success. Complementing their efforts were the music school faculty, staff, parents and board members, all of whom helped to make the evening an overwhelming hit. Such work is part of a new effort to expand the Thurnauer School of Music’s development capacity, so it can continue to provide the highest quality education and outreach to the greater New York City community. Children from the Moriah and Solomon Schechter schools, Ycs George Washington School of Hackensack, area public schools, and adults from the Adler Aphasia Center attended, all written under by event sponsors, including BMW of Tenafly.

“We are delighted about the outcome of our 2011 Gift of Music Gala Benefit Concert,” Roffman said. “We are extraordinarily grateful to Mr. Gilbert and the world-class Philharmonic musicians for donating their time and talent to make this concert such a success. We are also thankful to our generous donors for enabling us to make music a part of so many children’s lives.”

The Gift of Music has been made possible by Joan and Alan Handler since its inception, and has been supported by loyal individual donors and local businesses. This year, as a gala benefit, the concert was held at bergenPAC for the first time, and school parents, individuals in support of music education, music lovers, and local businesses, including BMW of Tenafly, brought the event to a new level. Music school parents Karen and Michael Neus and Amy and Richard Machado served as the gala co-chairs.

“I feel transformed. This experience of working with such fine musicians—and even finer people—is one I’ll never forget,” said TSO bassist Arthur Fanzo.

“Contributions are still being received, for which we are very thankful,” Roffman said. “As of March 15, we are at $100,000 and still climbing. We are thrilled to surpass this significant milestone, and look forward to continuing to provide excellent music education for children.”

Donations to the JCC Thurnauer School of Music may still be made by visiting the school’s website at www.jccotp.org/thurnauer or by calling 201.408.1465.
