Twenty Eighth Annual Rubin Run 05.10.09
Fitness + Fun: A Family Challenge

Every year, the Rubin Run draws hundreds of JCC members, as well as friends from the surrounding community. Our hope is to provide fabulous family fun, and at the same time, provide a venue where parents can serve as role models for their kids and teach them the importance of health and wellness.

A major goal for the JCC is to help people achieve healthier lifestyles and the aim of the Rubin Run is to ignite a new tradition of family bonding through fun and fitness. The Run also celebrates the importance of family connectedness and the benefits of connecting with one’s community.

To make this Mother’s Day event meaningful for the entire family, the Run will offer something for everyone, including activities for family members who are not runners. All moms will receive roses upon their arrival at the finish line. Children will enjoy an old-fashioned carnival and other special activities and the chance to make their mother’s unique Mother’s Day gifts. Pre-race stretches and warm-ups will be offered to those who choose to run.

The Run will feature a 10K starting at 8:45am and a 5K run starting at 10am. Participants can run alone or create their own team of four runners or more. The relatively flat course runs through the tree-lined streets of Tenafly, Englewood and Englewood Cliffs. A continental breakfast will be available for all and awards will be given to the winners in each age category.

“The Rubin Run is a great day, infused with the spirit of family and community, says Saul Scherl, one of the event’s co-chairs. “We are looking forward to a successful run, and we encourage families to come out and join us.”

Proceeds from the Rubin Run will support social service and healthy lifestyles programs designed to effectively enhance the lives of hundreds of people who come through the doors of the JCC each day, including the frail elderly, people with Alzheimer’s and dementia, children and teens with special needs and people who are neurologically and physically challenged.

We extend a big thanks to our Event Co-Chairs, Dr. Jonathan Mangot, Neal Merker and Saul Scherl, as well as our incredible committee: Rudy Herzog, Chuck Wayte, Howie Simon, Blake Chroman, Marty Hubert, Teddi Hunter, Danny Rubin, Jonathan Scherl, Cara Kupersmith and Melanie Zingler.

Message from the Executive Director

When our Festival of Passover began in April, so did a forty-nine day (seven week) span, known as S’farat Ha’Omer (S’farah or Omer, for short). It will take us up to the Festival of Shavu’ot. Interestingly, for such a long period of time, it apparently has only one mandate or mitzvah: we simply count. Each night (since that’s when the Jewish day starts), we recite a blessing, followed by counting the specifically numbered day of the S’farah. For example; “Today is the nineteenth day which is two weeks and five days of the Omer.”

We shall, of course, encounter certain holy days during the S’farah; Rosh Chodesh (marking a new Jewish month), Lag B’Omer (on the Omer’s thirty-third day, which was the final day of a plague which took the lives of students of the famous Rabbi Akiva); and lastly, Yom Yerushalayim (this year, the forty-second anniversary of the re-unification of Israel’s Eternal Capital, Jerusalem).

Our Sages also outline for us a variety of teachings that we glean from this period of counting. But perhaps the most profound teaching, is its most obvious.

We count. We count as people; and what we do - as individuals, counts. No matter how overwhelming the world we live in frequently seems to be, despite the frustrations that arise because we are individuals within an almost infinite magnitude, we still count. And we count for either the good or the bad which emanate from us.

One good deed, say our Sages, echoes way beyond the immediate, sometimes into the unforeseeable and unintended.

Capital Campaign Update from Pearl Seiden

Thanks to the amazing support of our donors, we have raised $24,108,298!! We are now in the home stretch of our Capital Campaign. The initial phase of the project is complete, and in April, the next phase of the renovation commenced. Our leadership has approved the project through the completion of phase 3 which is scheduled to begin in September.

Our fiscal health is sound. Our campaign leadership meets regularly to assess our financial position and to review our projected income and costs. Due to the economic crisis, we decided to curtail our fundraising efforts last November. We are now beginning targeted solicitations of our remaining major donor prospects. We hope to start the general membership portion of our fundraising effort in the fall of 2009 in order to raise the additional $4 million needed to complete the campaign.

We look forward to your participation and support.

If you would like to make a gift, please call Chris Morton at 201.569.7900 x 251 or cmorton@jccotp.org.

Tuesday Torah Study
Will I Still Be Called Jew in 10 Years?
The Changing Landscape of Jewish Identity
with Rabbi Adina Lewittes
Tuesdays, continuing through 6/9
10:11:30 am

Who is a Jew? What matters more: who your parents are or what your Jewish commitments are? What should the requirements for conversion be? Should there be any? Can a conversion be undone? Why? And by whom? Who’s in and who’s out? These are the questions at the heart of the struggle to delineate the boundaries of Judaism within a rapidly changing world. This course will explore the many and varied approaches to Jewish identity.
Program continues on Tuesdays through June 09.
$30 JCC members, $34 general admission (per session)

New Jersey Screening Debuts!
Faces of Israel
The screening will be introduced by the director, Amy Beth Oppenheimer, and followed by a cross-denominational panel Sunday, 6/21

For those of us who live in the U.S. and who, at least in this country, are committed to the ideal of separation of church and state — it is odd to see our own religion so deeply intertwined in the workings of a Democratic Jewish state. The documentary raises provocative questions: What is the role of the Chief Rabbinate? Who should be included in it? What are the alternatives to it? Should Israel allow Same-sex or secular Civil Unions? The presentation, in the form of a series of interviews, is surprisingly even-handed, and broad in scope. It allows the subjects, who range from rabbinc leaders to average Israeli citizens, to speak for themselves. Further information will be available as the event nears. Call ext. 225 for more information.

The JCC and Israel Connections Department are proud to cosponsor the New Jersey debut of Faces of Israel along with a number of local congregations.

Creating Art at the JCC Computer Center

The JCC Computer Center for Adults has opened many exciting doors for its students. Some have found jobs that utilize their new computer knowledge, while others enjoy a stronger bond with their children and grandchildren by learning e-mail and internet skills, and still others, like Peter Tilgner, came to the Computer Center to learn a new means for artistic expression.

Peter has a Master’s in Art Education from New York University, and after a thirty-seven-year career as an artist/educator, he decided he wanted to create digital photographs merged from multiple images. He signed up for a Digital Photography class at the JCC Computer Center and now claims that the program, and his wonderful instructors and coaches, opened a whole new world for him. Since taking the class, his work has been included in thirty exhibitions, three of which were solo shows, including a recent show, entitled Bella Gente, in the JCC Waltuch Gallery.

“Before taking the course, I took photos with a 35mm camera and created my art by physically cutting up prints and gluing the separate components together to create the image I desired,” says Peter Tilgner. “The tools I learned in the computer class at the JCC allowed me to achieve far greater quality and consistency. My instructors showed me a whole new path for perfecting my art and I could not be creating the work I do now if it were not for this class.”

“We take great pleasure in knowing that the Computer Center helped Peter learn the skills he needed to create art that is beautiful and meaningful to him,” says Jerry Fleischer, an enthusiastic computer instructor for many years at the JCC, who was Peter’s Digital Photography instructor.

Peter Tilgner’s work can be seen by visiting his website at www.petertilgnerphotoart.net.

The Kaplen JCC on the Palisades’ Computer Center for Adults has been teaching basic and advanced computer skills to seniors and adults throughout the community for over 15 years. Classes are offered in a friendly, low-pressure environment, where each student has the use of a computer and access to experienced instructors and coaches. The center also features free, two-hour weekly, supervised practice sessions, a free detailed manual that can be used individually at home and reasonable fees. For more information about the Center, please call Debra Turitz at ext. 305 or visit www.jccotp.org.

Waltuch Art Gallery

Art In Photography by Jill Balsam
Digital Photography on Display May 1-24
Meet the Artist Reception: Sunday, 5/3, 1-3 pm
The show, Art In Photography, is a collection of original, digital, fine art prints. “The media used for these prints are my original photographs; primarily of nature, that I have either digitally enhanced and/or digitally “painted” with Adobe Photoshop or Corel Painter” says the artist. The collection is very colorful and spring-like and the images vary from moderately enhanced to abstract. They have all been home-printed on professional printers using archival inks, museum-quality fine art papers, and are considered true Giclees. A select few are limited editions.

3-Dimensions in Two by David Master
On Display June 1-25
Meet the Artist Reception: Sunday, 6/7, 1-3 pm
This show explores the dichotomy between two- and three-dimensional artwork. Displaying photographs of various perspectives of original sculptures, the exhibit utilizes the two-dimensional media of photography to allow the viewer to experience the three-dimensionality of its subject in a new way. Along with these metaphorically enhanced sculptures, the exhibit displays an array of narrative paintings, ranging from colorful surrealist scenes to black and white portraits. David currently runs BenZev Fine Art, LLC, an internet based virtual art gallery which he founded, located online at www.BenZevArt.com.

Monotypes & Mixed Media by Leslee Fetner
On Display July 1-22
Meet the Artist Reception: Sunday, 7/12, 1-3 pm
After studying art at Hunter College and Fashion Institute of Technology in New York City, Leslee Fetner worked as an artist and sculptor until she discover watercolor and watercolor monotypes, a printmaking process, as well as collage and pastel. Her work has been featured in several juried shows, including the Silvermine Guild Arts Center’s 2003 National Print Exhibition in New Canaan, Connecticut, and three National League of American Penwomen shows. Ms. Fetner is a member of the National League of American Penwomen, Salute to Women in the Arts and Pasack Art Association, of which she served as president from 2002 to 2006.

Landscape Paintings by David Buckbinder
On Display August 2-25
Meet the Artist Reception: Sunday, 8/2, 1-3 pm
David Buckbinder studied fine art at the Art Student’s League in New York and art history at William Paterson University. He focused on landscape painting under the tutelage of eminent landscape painter John Osborne at the Ridgewood Art Institute in New Jersey, where he is now a member. Mr. Buckbinder has won many awards at juried shows throughout New Jersey and New York, including First Place in Oils and Acrylics in the Ringwood Manor Association of the Arts Juried many awards at juried shows throughout New Jersey and New York, including First Place in Oils and Acrylics in the Ringwood Manor Association of the Arts Juried many awards at juried shows throughout New Jersey and New York, including First Place in Oils and Acrylics in the Ringwood Manor Association of the Arts Juried

Art In Photography by Jill Balsam
Digital Photography on Display May 1-24
Meet the Artist Reception: Sunday, 5/3, 1-3 pm
The show, Art In Photography, is a collection of original, digital, fine art prints. “The media used for these prints are my original photographs; primarily of nature, that I have either digitally enhanced and/or digitally “painted” with Adobe Photoshop or Corel Painter” says the artist. The collection is very colorful and spring-like and the images vary from moderately enhanced to abstract. They have all been home-printed on professional printers using archival inks, museum-quality fine art papers, and are considered true Giclees. A select few are limited editions.

3-Dimensions in Two by David Master
On Display June 1-25
Meet the Artist Reception: Sunday, 6/7, 1-3 pm
This show explores the dichotomy between two- and three-dimensional artwork. Displaying photographs of various perspectives of original sculptures, the exhibit utilizes the two-dimensional media of photography to allow the viewer to experience the three-dimensionality of its subject in a new way. Along with these metaphorically enhanced sculptures, the exhibit displays an array of narrative paintings, ranging from colorful surrealist scenes to black and white portraits. David currently runs BenZev Fine Art, LLC, an internet based virtual art gallery which he founded, located online at www.BenZevArt.com.

Monotypes & Mixed Media by Leslee Fetner
On Display July 1-22
Meet the Artist Reception: Sunday, 7/12, 1-3 pm
After studying art at Hunter College and Fashion Institute of Technology in New York City, Leslee Fetner worked as an artist and sculptor until she discover watercolor and watercolor monotypes, a printmaking process, as well as collage and pastel. Her work has been featured in several juried shows, including the Silvermine Guild Arts Center’s 2003 National Print Exhibition in New Canaan, Connecticut, and three National League of American Penwomen shows. Ms. Fetner is a member of the National League of American Penwomen, Salute to Women in the Arts and Pasack Art Association, of which she served as president from 2002 to 2006.

Landscape Paintings by David Buckbinder
On Display August 2-25
Meet the Artist Reception: Sunday, 8/2, 1-3 pm
David Buckbinder studied fine art at the Art Student’s League in New York and art history at William Paterson University. He focused on landscape painting under the tutelage of eminent landscape painter John Osborne at the Ridgewood Art Institute in New Jersey, where he is now a member. Mr. Buckbinder has won many awards at juried shows throughout New Jersey and New York, including First Place in Oils and Acrylics in the Ringwood Manor Association of the Arts Juried many awards at juried shows throughout New Jersey and New York, including First Place in Oils and Acrylics in the Ringwood Manor Association of the Arts Juried many awards at juried shows throughout New Jersey and New York, including First Place in Oils and Acrylics in the Ringwood Manor Association of the Arts Juried many awards at juried shows throughout New Jersey and New York, including First Place in Oils and Acrylics in the Ringwood Manor Association of the Arts Juried

The Wave Runners swim team was undefeated in all five duel meets in their winter season this year. In their Division B New Jersey JCC Swim League Championship Meet, the girls came in third; the boys placed first, and the overall team came in first with an impressive 554 score that enabled the Wave Runners to place ahead of the Barracudas from JCC of Central New Jersey.

The team also earned numerous individual first place finishes including Eunice Cho, William Cho, Sara Howard, Joseph Shin, Eric Cho, Ethan Rhee, Eddy Cho, Heather-Rae Goldfarb, Joon Seung Oh, Mark Roh, David Ryu, Terry Li, Cassandra Alexe, Harii Starr, and Guy Doron.

Wave Runners is a competitive swim team for boys and girls ages 5-17 that meets at the JCC from September through February in the JCC six-lane, 25-meter Epstein Family indoor pool. The JCC offers year-round lap swimming, American Red Cross Lifeguard Training, American Red Cross Learn to Swim program, and private and semi-private lessons for children and adults. It also runs a non-competitive swim team program from March to August. All classes are taught by CPR-trained, experienced instructors who specialize in correct swim techniques. The JCC also maintains a heated indoor kid-sized training pool, a 25-meter outdoor pool with a diving board and an outdoor intermediate and baby pool. Lifeguards are on duty at all times. For more information on Wave Runners and Aquatics programs at the Kaplen JCC on the Palisades, please call Irina Shevchenko, Aquatics Director, at ext. 411.

This year’s memorable dining experience, which took place on March 31, raised more than $35,000 to support essential services for senior adults in our community, including Senior Center Plus, a social “club” for active senior adults, and the Kaplen Adult Reach Center for the frail elderly and those who suffer from Alzheimer’s disease and related forms of dementia. The event also supports a vast array of recreational, educational and social programs that are vital to all our senior adult participants.

The adventure began at the home of Jan and Edward Turen, where participants enjoyed a breakfast that featured Ron Ben-Israel, “America’s Cake Maestro.” Guests then choose from an appetizing selection of lavish lunches, served in private homes, where hosts and hostesses provided a unique and memorable dining experience. Those who graciously offered to host included: Dana Adler & Tiffany Kaplan, Judy Adler & Jodi Epstein, Alyssa Alfano & Lana Platin, Dana Baumgarten & Alison Turen, Wendy Federman, Debbie Gaaman & Jennifer Schiffman, Michelle Grable, Sara Levinson & Lindsay Blatt, Jill Masichler & Jen Graf, Lisa Beth Meisel, Wendy Nacht, Elle Rubach, Dana Yehuda & Tami Volodarsky and Arlene Zimmerman. Lorin Cook, Merle Fish & Jennifer Schiffman served as co-chairs for the event, along with Dana Runyon, chair of the Special Events Department.
Every year a team of 40 JCC members and friends give up their time to feed the homeless of our community, on behalf of the JCC. For one week each year, we welcome in guests, cook, serve, mingle, clean up, and even sleep over, providing much needed respite for those less fortunate. But this year the guests had multiplied, the rooms were filled to capacity, the cupboards were bare, and the faces were frighteningly familiar.

Here at the Inter-Religious Fellowship for the Homeless, a shelter just down the street from the JCC, in Englewood, guests who have recently lost their jobs are looking for a fresh start, a temporary crutch to help get them back on their feet. They live in tiny cubicles, share a common area, and recall what privacy used to be like. We sit and talk with them, read to their children, help with homework, clean up and say good-bye at the end of our shift. It all seems so foreign.

Homelessness seems like a disease, an illness connected to a distant country, or at least a different town. To realize it exists so close to our JCC is to believe something has gone wrong with our system, or perhaps, our community.

So we pitch in to help ease their burden. But this year, we were in for a surprise. Not only had the players at the shelter changed, the scene had changed, too. While St. Cecelias is considered a “family shelter,” it seemed to continually consist of only single mothers and their young children. Men were rarely present. While we were busy cooking dinner in the kitchen, the women would meet with the social worker on call, set up a game plan for finding the best job opportunities to earn and save for long-term rent and other vital expenses. However, this year, there weren’t just single mothers meeting with social workers. Mothers and fathers sat together. Single fathers, too. All out of work, homeless and living at this overflowing shelter.

Every cubicle was filled, with a wait list to get in. We were even asked to serve dinner to an extra two families who weren’t sleeping at the shelter, only because there weren’t enough rooms. We worked diligently all night, cooking for 30 homeless guests, cleaning pots and pans, and helping prepare lunches for the next day. We barely had time to sit and talk with the guests. We hadn’t anticipated how different the shelter would be this year, with the economy so much worse than it has been in the past. Had we known, we would have planned ahead, stocked the cupboards, solicited more volunteers, and cooked more food.

While volunteering at the shelter should naturally make you appreciate the space, privacy and freedoms you have in your own home, seeing someone you actually know living there with their family, can change your whole world. That was the real-life lesson of appreciation some of our teen volunteers received this year, when they came face-to-face with someone they see regularly in our community. There she was, living at the shelter with her husband and children. This was not some stranger we were helping, but an acquaintance from the neighborhood, a recent casualty of our economy. She recognized us too, and asked for her privacy. We honored it, and offered her respect and dignity with someone they see regularly in our community.

The JCC Thurnauer School of Music raised $25,000 at this year’s Gift of Music Scholarship Benefit Concert that featured Mark O’Connor, one of today’s most spectacular violinists, composers and Grammy Award-winning fiddler players. The concert was a huge success, with all proceeds going directly to young students who are eager to study music at the school, but could not otherwise afford the tuition. A key mission for the school is to ensure that everyone with a passion for music has a chance to realize their dream and the Gift of Music helps the JCC achieve this every year.

Mark O’Connor sold out the house, performing his own compositions and improvisations to an audience of more than 500 people at the Clinton Inn in Tenafly. Sixty violinists, violists, and cellists, age 3-18, from the Thurnauer School of Music joined him to perform two encores, Appalachia Waltz and Fiddler’s Dream. Prior to the concert, O’Connor led a 90-minute workshop for these students.

The Gift of Music Scholarship Benefit Concert was established in 1990 by Drs. Alan and Joan Handler to provide scholarship assistance for all young people who wish to study at the Thurnauer School.
Register Now For Early Childhood & Kindergarten

The JCC state-licensed NAEYC accredited Early Childhood Department provides innovative programming for children, ages two to four, in a warm and welcoming Jewish environment. Our primary goal is to provide a rich learning experience, where all our young participants learn new ideas and skills.

Nurturing your child’s social, emotional and intellectual growth is our ultimate goal. From Judaic programming and holiday celebrations to intergenerational get-togethers and field trips, your child will be exposed to the very best programs, facilities and staff. Our curriculum includes socializing, cognitive readiness skills, swim, gym, music, Judaics, art, dramatic play, science, cooking and baking, Israeli culture, Shabbat and Jewish holiday celebrations, as well as a nature program in collaboration with the Tenafly Nature Center. Our facilities include large cheerful classrooms, playgrounds, gyms and junior pools with experienced aquatics staff. Our staff features NJ State certified teachers, small staff to student ratios, a full time nurse and staff that is certified in infant/child CPR and First Aid.

For more information and application, call Felicia Glantz, director, ext. 360.

Looking for the perfect Day Care Program for your Toddler?

Ready 2 Go

Formerly Pre-Camp

Ages 24-35 months by 10/15, June 22- August 14, 9:15-11:15 am

This eight-week separation preparation program provides an ideal setting for young children to have a nursery school experience during the summer while easing into the first transition from home to school. A parent or caregiver stays with each child until the separation process is complete. Our specialized summer class placement assures that children are in the same class with staff members and children who will be in their classroom for the school year.

Our experienced, professional staff will encourage your child’s social skills, nurture their creative expression and help them facilitate a successful separation so they can transition to school with greater comfort and ease.

Program includes daily indoor and outdoor play, water activities, story time, singing, and a scheduled visit from a petting zoo. It also offers a time for children to explore the classroom environment in small groups, outdoor time in our state-of-the-art playground and water play, providing important sensory activity. Music is offered once a week with a professional music teacher, and Shabbat celebration allows the children to learn the blessings and celebrate with Shabbat songs.

Call Pam Machefsky, ext. 354 for more information.

ENDOWMENTS: A LASTING LEGACY FOR THE JCC

The JCC endowment funds have enabled us to enhance our programs and services and respond to challenges within our community. We thank you for making a commitment to our agency and our future.

Types of Endowment Funds
- The wonderful thing about endowment funds is that they allow you to give in personal and creative ways. They can be named to:
  - Honor the memory of a beloved loved one.
  - Recognize a family member or friend on a special occasion.
  - Create a fund for a specific purpose.

Benefits
- Endowments provide lasting rewards:
  - They can be earmarked for an existing JCC program or service, allowing you to support a cause or interest that is important to you.
  - They can be named for a loved one, allowing you to honor or remember someone meaningful in your life.
  - They are gifts that “keep on giving.” A specific amount of income is spent each year.

How to Establish an Endowment Fund
- By making a charitable donation of $10,000 or more, you can establish a named endowment fund at the JCC. A fund of any amount generated by endowment funds, makes it possible to offer investing and dynamic programs. Consider establishing an endowment fund and help address important needs in our community.
- To discuss establishing an endowment fund or to learn more about giving opportunities at the JCC, please contact Avi A. Lewinson, Executive Director, JCC on the Palisades, 411 East Clinton Avenue, Tenafly, New Jersey 07670. Call 201.569.7900, ext. 215 or email alewinson@jccotp.org.

TRIBUTES

Tribute Cards
Additional contributions can be made to individual endowment funds in honor of a special occasion such as a wedding or anniversary, Bar/Bat Mitzvah, the birth of a child, or in memory of loved ones. The JCC will send a notification card to the honoree and publishes the tributes in our newsletter, In the Center. The minimum donation for a tribute card is $18.

The Therapeutic Nursery
at the Kaplen JCC on the Palisades

is a unique parent-child program for intelligent preschool children with a variety of developmental disorders including Communication and Learning Disorders, ADD/ADHD, PDD, Asperger's Syndrome and High Functioning Autism.

Children are accepted into the program after a screening and with Director's approval.

The program features:
- developmental, language-based program including rigorous social skills curriculum
- well-trained interdisciplinary team including specialists in speech-language and occupational therapy, special education, clinical social work and neuropsychology
- parents and/or other caregivers attend classes daily and play a central role in their child's treatment
- half-day program where children are encouraged to attend mainstream classes for the second half of their day
- 80% of our students remain in a mainstream setting after graduation
- nationally recognized, non-sectarian, special education preschool.

Session 2: July 20-July 31 (Show: Sunday, August 2, 6 pm)

This is an excellent opportunity for all students, beginners through advanced, to experience the pleasures of performing at a very high level. Each two-week session includes professional workshops in acting, improvisation, movement and singing, as well as a complete Broadway style musical with full sets, costumes, challenging dialogue for actors, big musical numbers and solos for those who would like them. In the final gala production, Of Princes, Beasts and Beauties, the stories are intertwined so that the dwarves work in the Beast’s mines, and Snow White’s family and Belle’s castle friends all dance at Cinderella’s Ball. Campers enjoy end-of-day swim in the Epstein Family pool. Price for 2 week session includes DVD of performance. Call Inbal Israeli, ext. 339.

$680 JCC members, $815 non-members (lunch options $60/session) • Early drop off 8:30 am: $90/$115
(Grades 4-5 must be JCC members/Grades 6-8 may be non-members)

Ages 8-16 • Mondays-Thursdays
August 17-27, 10:30 am-3 pm

Learn the moves that make dancers so beautiful on stage and screen, film, TV and Broadway (High School Musical 3, Happiness, 13, and Shrek the Musical). Four days a week of basic technique that explore all the latest crazes and new dance forms. Improve the skills you love in ballet, jazz, tap, hip-hop, beginner acrobatics, ballroom, and Latin dance. Build strength and flexibility while having a great time! All instructors are experienced choreographers and teachers in major New York City dance schools, whose students are currently performing on Broadway, Lincoln Center, and National Tours. Videos, movie time, and snack-time included (bring your lunch). Call Ronit Gorelik, ext. 301.

$360 JCC members, $430 non-members
Each summer the NKDC hosts schlichim (teachers) from Israel as part of the camp staff. These young adults join the camp, the staff, and the community for nine weeks. NKDC is privileged to have such high caliber Israeli leadership in the camp each summer and is looking for families who are interested in hosting Israeli staff members (usually around 20-22 years old) for 2-4 weeks. The camp provides daily transportation and lunch. The families are asked to provide a private room, breakfast and dinner and to welcome them as part of their families for the duration of their stay.

For more information please contact Erica Kose at ext. 317.
